Finally, an all natural solution to those ugly tearstains.

EyePack is a revolutionary two-part program that helps clear away tearstains, without pharmaceutical antibiotics.

The reason tearstains are so hard to eradicate is that they are a visible symptom of a deeper systemic problem. The most common cause of the redness is yeast infection which in turn is produced by bacteria. That's why, if you want to get rid of tearstains, wiping the eyes is only the first step. Unless you boost your best friend's immunity, the bacteria that cause the stains will persist and so will the stains.

happytails has created two new products that work together to fight the problem from the inside and out.

STEP 1 Use convenient pre-moistened EyePads to remove the tearing residue from around a dog's eyes. Rub with and against the grain of the fur for maximum effectiveness. The pads are infused with eyebright that helps clean away the discoloration and all natural colloidal silver that inhibits the growth of the bacteria that cause them. Tear free EyePads may also be used as doggie “wash cloths” to clean grubby muzzles and faces.

STEP 2 Sprinkle Eyemunity powder on your dog's food every day. The unique formula contains a nutrient rich, high-metabolite immunogen (Epicor) that has been clinically proven to boost immunity on both animals and humans. Eyemunity will support your best friend's fight against stain-causing bacteria while improving his overall health.

TIP Before starting the program it's a good idea to change the dog's drinking water to filtered or distilled water. Most bottled and tap waters contain minerals that can exacerbate the problem.

EyePads Gently removes and prevents tearstains and cleans a grubby muzzle

50 PRE-MOISTENED PADS

These hypo allergenic cleansing pads remove the tearing residue from around a dog’s eyes. They are infused with all-natural herbs and botanicals that clean away discolorations and inhibit the growth of the bacteria that cause them. Tear free EyePads may also be used as doggie “wash cloths” to clean grubby muzzles and faces.

EYEPADS ■ Contain no pharmaceutical antibiotics ■ Alcohol free ■ Tearless ■ All natural ■ Convenient (no mixing) ■ Reasellable to prevent drying out ■ Needs no refrigeration

INSTRUCTIONS 1 Hold your dog’s face firmly with one hand 2 With other hand wipe EyePad over the tear stained area moving with and against the hair. 3 Turn pad over and repeat on the other eye 4 Use daily until tearstains are removed. For best results use in conjunction with happytails Eyemunity. For maintenance, we suggest that you use every other day, then gradually reduce to every third day.

Eyemunity Takes a revolutionary approach to the health of your dog!

EYEPADS

Witch Hazel (hamamelis Virginiana) A very gentle astringent that utilizes all the natural cleansing properties of tannins and volatile oils. Studies suggest that witch hazel strengthens veins and offers anti-inflammatory effects and is useful in relieving such skin conditions as eczema.

Colloidal Silver An effective broad-spectrum natural antibiotic that disables the enzyme that all viruses, fungi and one-celled bacteria use to metabolize oxygen. Colloidal silver leaves beneficial enzymes intact (Unlike pharmaceutical antibiotics) and also soothes skin conditions and cleans eyes safely and thoroughly.

Cocamidopropyl Betaine A mild organic surfactant that does not irritate skin or mucous membranes. Is used to improve the “spreadability” of the liquid on the pad so that it better saturates the tearast.

Golden Seal (Gydrastis Canadenis) Goldenseal is effective for irritations to the eyes and serves as a strong antimicrobial agent and also quickly reduces inflammation and redness.

Eyebright (euphrasia officinalis) An anti-inflammatory and astringent. Eyebright is rich in Vitamins A, B, Complex, C and D and smaller amounts of Vitamin E.

Rosemary Leaf (Rosmarinus Officinalis) Effective against fungi and bacteria which makes it a useful anti-bacterial skin and eye rinse.

Raspberry Fruit (Rubus Idaeus) An astringent, raspberry leaf is very beneficial as eyewash.

Echinacea Angustifolia Is antimicrobial and helps to relieve skin irritations.

Glycerin An humectant (adds moisture to skin)

Citric Acid Organic acid found in fruits. An excellent all natural preservative.

Potassium Sorbate An FDA-approved, polyunsaturated fat that is used to inhibit microbial growth.

Lavender Flower Lavender not only has a pleasing scent and gentleness but it is also antibacterial and contains anti-itch properties.

EXYLMUNE

Epicor An all-natural, high-metabolite immunogen that nourishes the body’s immune system to strengthen resistance and maintain wellness. Epicor helps to reduce the bacteria that cause tear staining, it delivers three times the anioxidant power of any known fruit, and is excellent for older and immune-compromised dogs. Unlike pharmaceutical anti-biotics which effect the natural healthy flora in the digestive system Epicor works with a dogs own system to boost his natural defenses. Epicor is backed by decades of expertise and experience in the animal arena and has proven so effective that it is being introduced to the human nutrition market!

Vitamin C (Calcium Ascorbate) Calcium ascorbate is the mineral calcium combined with vitamin C (ascorbic acid). This combination is well-absorbed in the digestive tract. Vitamin C supports the production of collagen and provides protection against damaging free radicals that can degrade connective tissue.

Astragalus This herb helps to protect the immune system and promote resistance to invasive infection. Astragalus Root is often used in treating immune-deficiency related problems. Modern researchers note that the herb appears to increase the production of the body’s T-cells (white blood cells), which attack the invaders that cause disease, and seems to protect healthy cells.

Cats Claw Cat’s Claw, frequently called by its Spanish name, Una de Gato, is a potent immuno-stimulant and antioxidant that fights free radical damage and possess antiviral and antibacterial properties. It is believed to effectively cleanse and detoxify while replenishing friendly bacteria.

Dessicated Liver (yum!) Enhances palatability (to a dog probably not to a human) and is rich in B vitamins and is a natural source of iron and folic acid.

Brewhers Yeast A naturally occurring yeast, which enhances palatability and contains essential amino acids such as thiamine, chromium and selenium.

Natural Beef Flavor Need we say more? However not only is beef what a dog hopes is for dinner it’s also an excellent source of iron, zinc, niacin, vitamin B6 and vitamin B12.

Getting rid of tear stains

1. Use both products diligently. Start by wiping your dog’s eyes with the Eyepads twice each day, wipe one eye with one side of the pre-moistened pad, then turn it over and clean the other eye. Use the pads once only. Add Eyemunity to two of his meals, of course it’s best on wet food but if you use dry food you can put the food and a couple of scopes of Eyemunity into a sandwich bag, shake and voila the Eyemunity will coat the food.

2. Be patient. Unlike other products on the market Eyepack contains no pharmaceutical antibiotics. The all natural ingredients are better for your dog and far gentler on his system, however it will take up to two weeks to see significant results.

3. When using the Eyepads work with and against the grain of the fur. Please note that the Eyepads will not wipe away the redness; the stain has colored your dog’s hair so deeply that the hair will need to be trimmed away, but as new hair grows the all natural antibiotics will suppress the bacteria and prevent further staining.

4. As the staining clears up you can reduce the frequency of wiping from twice a day to once every few days and give your dog Eyemunity only once a day.

5. A win win situation. Eyemunity contains an ingredient called Epicor that boosts your best friends immunity naturally so you can feel good about giving it to your dog every day, not only will it maintain his beautiful new look but it will improve his overall health.

6. Because the Eyepads are infused with colloidal silives; a natural antibiotic they are perfect for cleaning not only eyes, but ears, grubby muzzles and delicate noses. Anywhere that needs to be clean and germ free.
